RFP No. 22-2441-11ARA

Dear Ms. Anthes:

Thank you for reaching out to us for our Best and Final Offer (BAFO) in response to RFP number 22-2441-11ARA. Because we value the partnership with Henrico County Public Schools, we significantly improved our initial offer for this RFP from our existing/previous contract. Previously, only Title 1 schools would receive up to a 32% discount, but for RFP 22-2441-11ARA we have extended this discount to all Henrico County Public Schools regardless of their Title 1 status. This includes all the same benefits for free labels, shipping, and free bins afforded to HCPS Title 1 schools. This also represents a 2% increase from our prior contract.

Thank you again for the opportunity to work with Henrico County Public Schools. We are excited to continue our partnership with HCPS and provide you with all your Classroom Library needs. Please feel free to contact me with any further questions or concerns.

Sincerely,

Tab 3 - Offeror Qualifications and Experience

Started by Sandy Jaffe in 1974 as Paperback Supply, Booksource (now GL group, dba Booksource) has remained a family owned business, currently owned and operated by Sandy's son, Neil Jaffe. Booksource has been developing literature collections for classroom libraries for the K-12 educational market for 35 years. We currently offer more than 4,000 collections of varying scope and reading levels and provide customization opportunities to meet the specific needs of educators working in the classrooms. We can correlate titles and collections according to content area, interests, reading levels, state standards, and more. If you would like to substitute any titles in an already created library or custom collection, our title experts can find a title to meet the exact educational need, theme, and level.

In addition to having been a partner of Henrico County Public Schools for more than ten years, we also work with more than 2,000 districts across the United States. We are a strategically sourced vendor for the New York City Department of Education and the City of Chicago Board of Education, and since 1974, Booksource has been a trade book distributor for schools, non-profits, and libraries, representing more than $120 million in annual sales.

Guiding Principles for Booksource Collection Curation

Our highly qualified staff has been carefully chosen to balance the two important facets of Collection Development—instructional purpose and literature expertise. Our team includes qualified educators to ensure that our collections serve their intended pedagogic purposes and meet the evolving needs of students and educators. The educators on our staff ensure our collections are guided by an understanding of educational needs and are grounded in current educational research. We also employ book experts—specialists with literature degrees and extensive experience selecting titles in library and/or literature related settings. Having staff with this background ensures that the titles in our collections are selected carefully based on literary quality, audience appeal, and appropriateness of content.

Each book in every Booksource collection is handpicked by our Collection Development team of experts. Boasting advanced degrees and over 85 years of combined experience in the education and book industries, the team ensures our collections contain the best possible grouping of titles. The guidelines below, drawn heavily from the American Library Association's Code of Ethics and other professional sources, are carefully considered during the curation process of each collection.

Diversity: Every reader deserves books that are mirrors as well as windows. All collections are curated with inclusion and representation in mind. Diversity includes, but is not limited to, gender, ethnicity, abilities, socioeconomic status, orientation, cultural experience, and global perspective.

New: Booksource makes staying informed on publishing and educational trends a top priority. Introducing customers to great, recently published titles is one of our advantages. We keep the proven favorites available, but when curating collections, newer texts are emphasized. Recent copyright dates are even more important in nonfiction collections, as science and technology continue to evolve.

Levels: Selecting titles with appropriate interest levels and reading levels is a crucial step to ensuring students have access to “just right” books. We consider interest level as well as reading levels, such as Lexile Levels and Guiding Reading Levels, to make sure titles are a good fit for each collection.

Compelling: Titles that are rich in content with cross-curricular opportunities are given preference over texts narrower in focus. We know stories are often the first medium in which students explore their own values. To do this effectively, they must encounter texts that have rich, thought-compelling content with positive social values.

Appropriate: Every book should make sense for the collection(s) in which it is included. Interest level, reading level, page count, thematic and genre characteristics, content, and focus of the collection are all taken into consideration when selecting titles.

Variety: Student choice is key to reading engagement. We look for opportunities to include high-interest topics and texts that use a variety of formats, such as chapter books, graphic novels, poetry, and picture books. In thematic sets, the format variety allows readers accessibility to make connections and deeply explore a topic.

Neutrality: Everyone has a bias, but we make sure key titles that add value to a collection are included, even if we dislike them for personal reasons. Our professional duty always comes before our personal opinions.

Convenient: Booksource works hard to save customers time and money. While focusing on new titles, we strive for collections to include significantly more paperback titles than more costly hardcovers. We also make sure each collection offers the highest quality books, so customers do not waste time purchasing and returning unwanted titles.

Our Collection Development team is led by our Director of Products, Katy Hostman. Katy holds a Master of Business Administration degree and a Bachelor of Arts degree in English and Secondary Education. Previously a classroom teacher, she held teaching certifications in Language Arts for grades 5-9 and English for grades 9-12. She has worked at Booksource for over 10 years creating collections and catalogs to meet educational needs.

Our Commitment to You

Booksource understands that guided reading instruction is not a "one size fits all" mission. Whether it is from student to student or district to district, we know that what works for one, may not for all. In this spirit, Booksource places great emphasis on our ability to custom fit our sets and libraries to the exact specifications of the educators who will be using these books to teach literacy in the classroom. Our in-house teams, including Literacy, Collection Development, and Product Management, work diligently every day identifying books that directly meet the specific needs of the educators we serve to assist their success in the classroom.

We firmly believe that engagement, the student's as well as the teacher's, is one of the most important keys to that success, and Booksource's methodology and approach to support is designed around this belief. We are a company of engaged people for engaged reading; to have Booksource's literacy solution in your classroom is to have an entire support team of educators working for each one of your teachers. Thank you for considering Booksource as your partner in literacy.

Tab 5 – Project Approach and Implementation of Services

Thank you for allowing Booksource the opportunity to bid on RFP 22-2441-11ARA, Classroom Library Book Services. We look forward to continuing our relationship supplying your new and current libraries with the latest titles for your students. As you know, Booksource understands that guided reading is not a “one size fits all” mission, therefore our offerings are uniquely designed on a project-by-project basis to meet the individual needs of the districts we serve. We work with over 300 top publishers nationwide to ensure our ability to draw from the most robust selection of authentic classroom literature when creating district-specific libraries and collections.

Your Literacy Accounts Manager at Booksource has custom curated the attached collections for Henrico County Public Schools for each grade, PK through 8th Grade. These sample collections are just a small highlight of the titles that Booksource can provide to Henrico County Public Schools. Each of these grade level collections contains 300 books that are both fiction and non-fiction, and include a wide variety of genres including award-winning books, realistic fiction, narrative non-fiction, high interest non-fiction, popular trade books, graphic novels, classic titles, decodables, and series. These books are written in the English language, and we offer multiple titles in Spanish. Booksource will provide and attach book labels to the bottom center back cover of all books for Title I Schools stating, “Henrico County Public Schools,” “Title I,” and the school’s name.

To receive a quote, a request can be mailed or faxed, HCPS can build and submit a cart directly on our website, www.booksource.com, or we can be reached by phone. Once Booksource receives your request, your Literacy Accounts Manager (LAM) will typically return a quote with your specifications within 2 business days. Once a quote is reviewed and found acceptable by the district, we can process your order with either a purchase order, check, credit card number, or wire transfer.

Once an order is generated from the district, it is processed by Booksource’s Customer Care Team. Any titles not readily available in our warehouse will be ordered from the publishers by our Inventory Control Team. Booksource is capable of shipping classroom collections 100% complete, there are times when books are unavailable from the publisher. Our experience working with these challenges has led us to offer several solutions to maintain 100% complete delivery, including predetermined alternate title selections or title cancellation of unavailable books. We work with every district to meet their individual order completion needs. All orders should ship complete within 45-60 days.

Our Inventory Control Team ensures that we maintain appropriate inventory levels for our customers. Booksource's sophisticated operations allow for some of the highest fill rates and fastest turnaround times in the K-12 market. We stock more than 36,000 trade titles in our warehouse, representing more than $5.6 million in inventory. Our "in stock" percentage averages 97%. We proactively place orders to most publishers daily, which ensures faster turnaround and higher fill rates for our customers. All inbound shipments are received and shelved within 48 hours, and all incoming orders begin processing within 48 hours.

After all titles are in-house, they will be sorted and boxed according to the customer's specifications and shipped to the specified location(s). Every collection, bookroom, or classroom library Booksource ships is sorted and packaged to ensure easy delivery, receipt, and distribution. One of the many customization options Booksource provides is our labeled, wrapped, and ready service. Once titles are separated into sets, they are shrink-wrapped or bagged (depending on size of books or district specifications) and the set is labeled with its name or any other identifying information requested by the customer. Sets are then boxed by teacher, classroom, and grade level – again, whatever the district chooses to make distribution easiest upon receipt. Boxes are then labeled with the needed information based on the sorting criteria. When an end user receives an order from Booksource, each step of unpacking contains the necessary information to make it as easy as possible to get the materials where they need to be, organized in the best way for the classroom. All shipped orders contain an itemized packing list, and once shipped, an invoice is generated and sent the following day. With each order placed until contract 22-2441-11ARA, HCPS will receive one blue bin for every 60 books.

In the event that Booksource is responsible for an order-fulfillment discrepancy (e.g. damaged books, incorrect titles, etc.), Booksource will issue a return label (call-tag) at no customer cost, and the replacement items will be sent as soon as. The total for returned items will be subtracted from the customer's invoice, or if the invoice has already been paid, Booksource can issue a refund via check or credit card.

Booksource strongly believes in personalized service, so our toll-free number is operated in-house by a live operator Monday through Friday, 8:00am to 5:00pm at 1-800-444-0435. Our Customer Care team, as well as your Literacy Accounts Manager can all be reached by that same number, or you can reach out to us by emailing service@booksource.com. Your local Sales Consultant Diane Garavaglia can be reached at 301-538-9846 or succesmmatters.educ@gmail.com.

Tab 7 – Clarifications

Shipping

Booksource offers free standard shipping on all orders over $150; rush shipping can be requested at the customer's expense. Booksource will charge a flat, standard shipping rate of $9.99 to all purchase orders under $150. Additional shipping rates will apply for orders shipping outside of the continental United States. Contact us at bids@booksource.com for additional information.

Discount

Under this contract, Booksource is offering up to a 32% discount off current publisher list price at the time of purchase. While publishers reserve the right to change the list price of their titles at any time, the discount Booksource offers off that list price will remain firm. This discount applies to titles where Booksource receives a standard publisher discount. On titles where Booksource receives a short publisher discount, Booksource offers a 0%-10% discount off current publisher list price at the time of purchase. On average, 99% of Booksource inventory was purchased at standard publisher discount.

Discrepancies

Booksource will replace all shorted or damaged products at no expense.

Returns

If Booksource is responsible for any order-fulfillment discrepancy (e.g., damaged books, incorrect titles, etc.), Booksource will issue a return label (call-tag) at no customer cost. If Booksource is not responsible for order-fulfillment discrepancy, but the customer simply wants to return item(s) for other reasons, the customer will pay for shipping/handling per shipping method rates. Items that have been altered by customer or by customer request are non-returnable (e.g., re-bound, stamped, labeled, etc.). Special order titles are non-returnable. The total for returned items will be subtracted from the customer's invoice. When necessary (e.g., invoice has already been paid, customer prepaid with a credit card, etc.), Booksource can also issue a refund for returned items via check or credit card.

Catalogs

Booksource's catalogs do not expire but are updated every year. You can find the most current, up-to-date pricing at www.booksource.com.

Backorder Policy

In stock items are typically delivered 10-14 days after we receive the Purchase Order, however, due to current world-wide supply chain issues, this could change. For any out-of-stock items, customers have the option to allow for backorders, substitute backordered titles, or have an order held until all items are in stock. Backordered items, if any, should ship complete within 45-60 days pending publisher availability. If any title is out of stock beyond that window, the customer will be notified and has the option to cancel or substitute title. We use a notification system that is sent electronically to the email address provided on the Purchase Order. If no email address is provided, the system will default to fax or written notifications. Notifications are sent upon order receipt and order completion.

Sorting, Boxing and Labeling

Booksource provides free set sorting and boxing services for every classroom library. Each library and collection from Booksource will be sorted and packaged to ensure easy delivery, receipt, and distribution. For qualifying orders, custom, attached book labels are included. Book labels can contain up to 4 lines of text selected from the following:

- Collection Name
- Fiction/Nonfiction
- Author
- School Name
- District Name
- Guided Reading Level (F&P, Lexile, AR)

Once titles are separated into sets, they are shrink-wrapped or bagged (depending on size of books or district specifications) and the set is labeled with its name or any other information requested by the customer. Sets are then boxed by teacher, classroom, and grade level – or Booksource will work with the district to determine the solution that would make distribution easiest upon receipt. Boxes are labeled with the information needed based on the sorting criteria. When an end user receives a classroom library from Booksource, each step of unpacking contains the necessary information to make it as easy as possible to get the materials where they need to be and organized in the best way to be used in the classroom.

Storage

Booksource can provide high-quality plastic Booksource Book Baskets that offer easy storage and organization options for bookrooms and classroom libraries. Each basket measures 15"x12"x6" and comes with a lifetime guarantee. Each basket can typically hold up to 50 – 60 books, depending on size. For pricing information on Booksource Book Baskets, please visit our website at: <https://www.booksource.com/content/basketsbins.aspx>.
