Tab 1 – Introduction and Signed Forms

Children's Literacy Initiative (CLI) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization with more than 34 years of experience developing the literacy instructional strengths of districts, leaders, and educators to amplify and sustain powerful learning outcomes for children. In 2015, study results from a U.S. Department of Education-funded project validated CLI's ability to strengthen educator practice and improve child reading and learning achievement levels. CLI is excited to present a proposal for Henrico County Public School's RFP for literacy coaching services for elementary school teachers, leveraging our extensive experience in improving academic outcomes through evidence-based strategies aligned with the Science of Reading, a comprehensive body of research that informs teaching approaches based on the cognitive processes involved in learning to read. Our instructional approach is tailored to address the specific needs of students in diverse classroom settings. Anchored around our Framework for Teaching and Learning, we support teachers and leaders to integrate a culturally sustaining pedagogy with the foundational principles of effective instruction, forming a cohesive approach that is infused with both cultural responsiveness and pedagogical excellence. Unlike many conventional teaching and learning frameworks that often exhibit a colorblind approach, our distinctive approach intentionally focuses on centering Black and Latinx children. Recognizing the historical oversight in education, we are committed to ensuring that the experiences and needs of these students, who have long been unseen, are purposefully acknowledged and prioritized within our framework.

CLI understands the unique position Henrico is faced with in driving towards the vision for instruction and learning outcomes for children while balancing the persisting teacher shortage that is exceeding the Virginia state average. Our partnerships focus on building capacity within school teams by both improving instructional practice and also building and supporting instructional leaders who can continue to impact the school learning community in and outside of the work with CLI. We do this by providing the following:

- Comprehensive Professional Development: CLI's specialized K-8 professional development sessions empower educators and leaders to facilitate diagnostic analysis, determine baseline performance data, set initial goals, and deliver effective instructional next steps.
 - Topics include Diagnosing Instruction, Examining Data & Goal Setting, Supporting Professional Learning Communities (PLCs) to Deliver Equitable Instruction, and Progress Monitoring.

- Transformational Coaching and Adaptable Model: CLI's strength-based coaching leads to sustained change, benefiting schools and systems. One-on-one or small-group coaching enhances instructional efficacy and student engagement. CLI's coaching adapts to various settings, including monolingual, bilingual, and dual-language classrooms.
- Comprehensive Support and Evaluation: CLI commits to comprehensive support, including weekly coaching logs and summative evaluation reports and recommendations, to deliver exceptional literacy-focused professional development and coaching aligned with the district's vision. We will also engage in semi-annual stepback meetings with district partners to review the progress of the partnership at the school and district level.
- Seamless Transition Between Virtual and In-Person Sessions: CLI has demonstrated experience navigating virtual and in-person sessions, ensuring uninterrupted professional development for partners while adhering to safety protocols, maximizing schedule availability, and limiting collaborative interruptions.

Children's Literacy Initiative understands and meets the minimum eligibility requirements of the RFP listed below:

1. CLI has delivered a detailed and organized proposal that addresses each requirement completely and has included complete pricing as requested.
2. CLI has provided a copy of our valid/current business license.
3. CLI has been in business for 34 years, which exceeds the minimum of three (3) years, and all of our Literacy Instructional Coaches assigned to the Henrico partnership have at least three years of coaching experience and more than five years of teaching experience.
4. CLI has provided five (5) references of similarly completed projects that demonstrate our capabilities in each of the specified areas.
5. CLI is in good standing with federal, state, and municipal jurisdictions and is not under investigation or engaged in litigation that would hinder the conduct of business.
6. CLI has provided all applicable federal and state professional licensing requirements.
7. CLI has provided all required notifications and forms as requested.
8. CLI has (or will have at the time of implementation) the professionals and supporting staff necessary to deliver the contract in a timely manner.
9. CLI is fully capable of delivering a solution to the services described within this RFP within the calendar and scheduling scope of Henrico schools.

The CLI team has deep expertise in literacy instruction, culturally sustaining pedagogy, and adult learning. Our passion is in supporting the coaching and development of teachers to create the conditions that facilitate excellent instruction. We are all leadership and learning experts, led by a former superintendent. Our team includes former principals, district leaders, classroom educators, and academic specialists. We are enthusiastic about the opportunity to bring our impactful work to Henrico and contribute to the continued success and growth of your students. Together, we can create a lasting impact on literacy outcomes and empower students to thrive academically.

8. Equal Employment Opportunity Clause (2 C.F.R. PART 200 APPENDIX II(C))

During the performance of this contract, the contractor agrees as follows:

- (1) The contractor will not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or national origin. The contractor will take affirmative action to ensure that applicants are employed, and that employees are treated during employment without regard to their race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or national origin. Such action shall include, but not be limited to the following:

Employment, upgrading, demotion, or transfer; recruitment or recruitment advertising; layoff or termination; rates of pay or other forms of compensation; and selection for training, including apprenticeship. The contractor agrees to post in conspicuous places, available to employees and applicants for employment, notices to be provided setting forth the provisions of this nondiscrimination clause.

- (2) The contractor will, in all solicitations or advertisements for employees placed by or on behalf of the contractor, state that all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or national origin.
- (3) The contractor will not discharge or in any other manner discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because such employee or applicant has inquired about, discussed, or disclosed the compensation of the employee or applicant or another employee or applicant. This provision shall not apply to instances in which an employee who has access to the compensation information of other employees or applicants as a part of such employee's essential job functions discloses the compensation of such other employees or applicants to individuals who do not otherwise have access to such information, unless such disclosure is in response to a formal complaint or charge, in furtherance of an investigation, proceeding, hearing, or action, including an investigation conducted by the employer, or is consistent with the contractor's legal duty to furnish information.
- (4) The contractor will send to each labor union or representative of workers with which he has a collective bargaining agreement or other contract or understanding, a notice to be provided advising the said labor union or workers' representatives of the contractor's commitments under this section, and shall post copies of the notice in conspicuous places available to employees and applicants for employment.
- (5) The contractor will comply with all provisions of Executive Order 11246 of September 24, 1965, and of the rules, regulations, and relevant orders of the Secretary of Labor.
- (6) The contractor will furnish all information and reports required by Executive Order 11246 of September 24, 1965, and by rules, regulations, and orders of the Secretary of Labor, or pursuant thereto, and will permit access to his books, records, and accounts by the administering agency and the Secretary of Labor for purposes of investigation to ascertain compliance with such rules, regulations, and orders.

- (7) In the event of the contractor's noncompliance with the nondiscrimination clauses of this contract or with any of the said rules, regulations, or orders, this contract may be canceled, terminated, or suspended in whole or in part and the contractor may be declared ineligible for further Government contracts or federally assisted construction contracts in accordance with procedures authorized in Executive Order 11246 of September 24, 1965, and such other sanctions may be imposed and remedies invoked as provided in Executive Order 11246 of September 24, 1965, or by rule, regulation, or order of the Secretary of Labor, or as otherwise provided by law.
- (8) The contractor will include the portion of the sentence immediately preceding paragraph (1) and the provisions of paragraphs (1) through (8) in every subcontract or purchase order unless exempted by rules, regulations, or orders of the Secretary of Labor issued pursuant to section 204 of Executive Order 11246 of September 24, 1965, so that such provisions will be binding upon each subcontractor or vendor. The contractor will take such action with respect to any subcontract or purchase order as the administering agency may direct as a means of enforcing such provisions, including sanctions for noncompliance:

Provided, however, that in the event a contractor becomes involved in, or is threatened with, litigation with a subcontractor or vendor as a result of such direction by the administering agency, the contractor may request the United States to enter into such litigation to protect the interests of the United States.

The applicant further agrees that it will be bound by the above equal opportunity clause with respect to its own employment practices when it participates in federally assisted construction work: Provided, That if the applicant so participating is a State or local government, the above equal opportunity clause is not applicable to any agency, instrumentality or subdivision of such government which does not participate in work on or under the contract.

The applicant agrees that it will assist and cooperate actively with the administering agency and the Secretary of Labor in obtaining the compliance of contractors and subcontractors with the equal opportunity clause and the rules, regulations, and relevant orders of the Secretary of Labor, that it will furnish the administering agency and the Secretary of Labor such information as they may require for the supervision of such compliance, and that it will otherwise assist the administering agency in the discharge of the agency's primary responsibility for securing compliance.

The applicant further agrees that it will refrain from entering into any contract or contract modification subject to Executive Order 11246 of September 24, 1965, with a contractor debarred from, or who has not demonstrated eligibility for, Government contracts and federally assisted construction contracts pursuant to the Executive Order and will carry out such sanctions and penalties for violation of the equal opportunity clause as may be imposed upon contractors and subcontractors by the administering agency or the Secretary of Labor pursuant to Part II, Subpart D of the Executive Order. In addition, the applicant agrees that if it fails or refuses to comply with these undertakings, the administering agency may take any or all of the following actions: Cancel, terminate, or suspend in whole or in part this grant (contract, loan, insurance, guarantee); refrain from extending any further assistance to the applicant under the program with respect to which the failure or refund occurred until satisfactory assurance of future compliance has been received from such applicant; and refer the case to the Department of Justice for appropriate legal proceedings.

Tab 2 – Statement of the Scope

Improving Elementary Literacy Outcomes Through Onsite Coaching: Henrico County Public Schools have demonstrated a commitment to enhancing literacy and math outcomes for children by making coaching support available to all elementary schools. The strength of that commitment is evident in your proactive approach to finding additional means of support for schools with vacancies. Facilitated by our team of teaching and learning experts, CLI proposes a partnership that will develop teachers and leaders in literacy instruction and strengthen student engagement across all subject areas by developing teacher practice in cultivating joy, affirming identity, and responding to the social-emotional needs of all children. Learn more about our coaching sessions below:

- Coaching sessions center on fostering an inclusive and rigorous learning environment, which is essential for creating a safe, welcoming, and supportive learning space for all children to thrive socially and academically. We will provide educators with strategies to create an environment that values.
- Coaching sessions equip educators with the tools and strategies to ensure that assessments are aligned with standards and learning goals, unbiased, and culturally responsive. We will explore ways to assess children's knowledge, skills, and understanding fairly and equitably, regardless of their background or circumstances while maintaining high academic expectations and the belief that all children can reach those expectations.
- Coaching sessions integrate a focus on linguistic liberation, which involves creating an environment where all children can use their home language, dialects, and cultural expressions without fear of judgement, while supporting their learning and the learning of others. We will explore ways to integrate children's language and culture into instruction and assessments, promoting children's linguistic and cultural identities.
- Coaching sessions focus on differentiating instruction based on knowing your children well. We will provide strategies to help educators understand their children's strengths, interests, and needs. This will enable educators to tailor instruction to meet individual children's needs.

Capacity Building through Peer Coaching: CLI supports school and system leaders in diagnosing and strengthening literacy instruction so that every child can experience mastery, success, and the freedom to create their own future. CLI's Core Service Model provides a structure for consistent data gathering that allows us to focus on the most important research-based activities that impact children's learning and to measure if our approach is working systemically. The cyclical process consists of four phases: Discovery, Vision Setting & Strategic Planning, Support & Capacity Building, and Stepbacks; it will repeat across the school year for ongoing progress monitoring. Each phase plays a critical role in driving meaningful progress and achieving our shared goals. Throughout our partnership, we will engage school and systems leaders with learning experiences grounded in the Core Service Model. This will serve as the bridge to explicitly transfer structural knowledge by promoting skill development, active participation, application of knowledge, and continuous feedback to directly apply their learning in a meaningful context. At the heart of our service model is a research-backed structure for school improvement designed to empower school leaders not only within the confines of our partnership but as a versatile tool that can be employed independently to bolster and guide any improvement efforts across diverse educational landscapes.

Fulfillment of RFP Operational Requirements and Impact Monitoring: CLI guarantees coaching services during regular school hours, adherence to the HCPS school calendar, and flexibility to adjust coaching service days/hours based on district needs. Our proposal will commence with a four-day, district-level Discovery, which will provide a diagnostic analysis of the state of instruction and the roadmap for our coaching engagement across identified schools. CLI utilizes a web-based system, Monday.com, to track our partnership deliverables and can provide real-time updates to district partners on our progress towards our coaching goals as well as analysis of teacher and leader feedback on the coaching sessions and instructional diagnostics utilizing our Framework for Teaching and Learning. This facilitates informed decision-making and integration of coaching insights into the School Quality Plan. We are a national organization that has years of experience hiring and matching place-based coaches to embed in district partnerships. Our proposal assumes the utilization of a Virginia-based coach to support the work, minimize travel costs, and maximize impact investment. CLI's approach prioritizes clear communication, adaptability, and alignment with HCPS guidelines, reflecting our dedication to supporting and enhancing the overall quality of education in the district.

Tab 3 – Default, Termination, and Barred Certification Statement

Pursuant to Section VI of the RFP, Children's Literacy Initiative certifies the following:

1. CLI has not defaulted on any government contract in the last five years.
2. No government agency has terminated a contract for cause with CLI in the last five years.
3. Neither CLI nor any of its officers, directors, partners, or owners are currently barred from participating in any procurements by any federal, state, or local government body.

Tab 4 – Offeror Qualifications, Experience, and Resumes

At CLI, we have combined our expertise in culturally sustaining pedagogy and literacy instruction to create a comprehensive and independently validated Early Childhood Education Professional Development (PD) Program that accelerates children's learning and development while cultivating joy, embracing and affirming identity, and responding to the social and emotional needs children bring into classrooms every day. At CLI, we believe that every child deserves and benefits from high-quality literacy instruction and experiences. When children have access to excellent instruction, they become part of a learning environment that fosters equity, infuses joy in learning, and introduces them to who they are and can become through literature. Such an environment celebrates, encourages, and supports all children in meeting and exceeding their fullest potential.

Acknowledged by the American Institutes of Research, CLI earned the prestigious Standard Without Reservation award and a “Tier 3 Promising” effectiveness score from the What Works Clearinghouse, solidifying its position as the gold standard in the industry. The study took place across three academic years: 2016–17 (year 1), 2017–18 (year 2), and 2018–19 (year 3). The CLI intervention involved three components:

- Development of Instructional Lead Teachers as Mentors and Models: CLI selected K–3 teachers from each participating school and trained them as instructional lead teachers (ILTs) to serve as mentors and develop model classrooms in which fellow teachers could observe best practices. Each ILT was assigned a specific topic of focus (e.g., Reading Workshop, Intentional Read Aloud, or small group instruction) and received additional coaching and training on that focus.
- Instructional Leadership Development: CLI held school-level leadership team meetings and district-level meetings with principals and district administrators to help them understand CLI's work and involve them with the progress monitoring of teacher and student literacy practice as well as develop their own literacy practice.

The American Institutes of Research (AIR) report on a randomized control trial evaluation of CLI's i3 Validation project found statistically significant results for CLI's impact on teacher practice and student learning. In Denver, in each of the first two years of the initiative, SPF data demonstrated stronger gains in student achievement in schools receiving CLI services when compared to control schools not receiving services (complete analysis is attached).

AIR has surveyed teachers in CLI-served schools as part of the project. Overall, teachers involved in the project report that CLI services are having a positive impact on their professional development. In particular, teachers report the following:

- 90% of teachers agree that CLI coaching has had a positive impact on their professional development
- 94% of teachers agree they use CLI strategies in their classrooms
- 93% of teachers agree their CLI coach helps promote a positive learning environment
- 89% of teachers find the feedback they receive from their CLI coach to be helpful
- 93% of teachers agree that they have a good relationship with their CLI coach
- 96% of teachers agree that they are comfortable receiving critical feedback

Additionally, one Denver Public Schools leader's request to continue our services drives home the impact we can make:

"Based on the success of the partnership and the student learning results, we are requesting a continuation of services across the six schools. We believe that the work will continue to accelerate teacher practice and student achievement in these schools. We also believe this network of schools can be used as a model for embedded professional development that can be scaled across the district."

Leaders and teachers consistently emphasize the positive impact of CLI, noting increased student engagement and a strengthened sense of community among children. Recent data from the 2021-22 school year, collected from CLI-supported educators in Elizabeth and Passaic, further underscores the success of our approach.

- Workshops: 88% of CLI-supported educators affirmed their capability to implement best practices in teaching.
- Coaching: CLI coaching emerged as the primary support contributing to their professional growth.
- Materials: 94% of CLI educators agreed that the books are accurate, affirming, and inclusive. 96% of CLI educators acknowledged that the books contribute to children's sense of belonging, critical thinking, joy, engagement, and an increased appreciation for reading.

Our hiring and internal professional development practices ensure that staff members possess in-depth knowledge of the content and pedagogy and the curricula used by our partners as well as an understanding of the effective school improvement processes. When selecting employees who will work with partners, CLI tailors its staffing to provide a balanced team with the appropriate experience to address the unique needs of our partners. - State ELA student assessment data from Passaic City School District suggests that a robust, multiyear and district-wide partnership with CLI helps moves students out of the lowest performance tiers and into proficiency at a much higher percentage than "business-as-usual."
- From the year before CLI's partnership with Passaic City School District to the 2018-19 school year, the percentage of 3rd grade students reaching proficiency on state literacy assessments increased by 15 percentage points (14% to 29%), which is over twice the growth when compared to 3rd grade students in the state of New Jersey overall, who saw an increase of six percentage points (44% to 50%)*.
- From the year before CLI's partnership with Passaic City School District to the 2018-19 school year, the percentage of 3rd grade students scoring in the lowest performance tier on state literacy assessments decreased by 9 percentage points (38% to 29%), which significantly outpaced the decrease seen in 3rd grade students in the state of New Jersey overall, who saw a decrease of one percentage point (15% to 14%)*.

An example of staff we would include in our partnership with Henrico includes (resumes attached):

Dr. Diana Greene (Chief Executive Officer) is a renowned leader in public education and an early adopter and passionate advocate of the Science of Reading. Prior to joining CLI, Dr. Greene served over 37 years in public education as a classroom teacher, school principal, Director of Staff Development, Deputy Superintendent of Instructional Services, and most recently as the Superintendent of Duval County Public Schools (DCPS), the 20th-largest school district in the nation. In 2021, Dr. Greene led DCPS to be an early and successful adopter of the Science of Reading, leading to her district becoming a benchmark for other schools. A champion of children, families and educators, Dr Greene oversaw many transformative changes at DCPS, increasing schools across the district to “A” ratings, removing all schools from the states turnaround list, cutting the number of low-performing schools by more than half, and leading the transition to remote learning during the Covid-19 pandemic. Dr. Greene's exceptional leadership expertise at the school district level, her unwavering dedication to childhood literacy, acumen in resource development, and profound commitment to equity in education propels CLI forward in fulfilling its mission at a most vital time in the field of education.

Description:

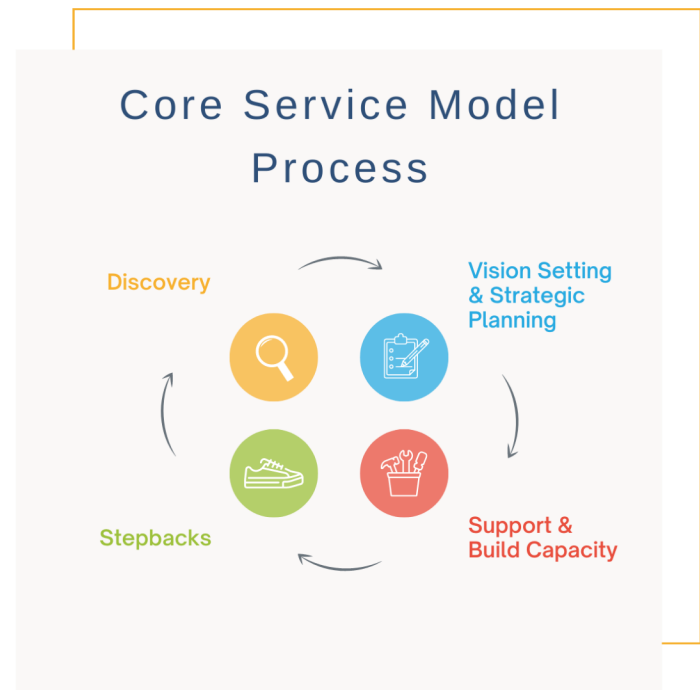

Conducted a cross-sector review of eight schools leveraging our research-based Teaching and Learning Framework. Omaha Public Schools had developed a strategic plan focusing on Instructional Leadership Development and we provided them with a comprehensive report with evidence-based recommendations for instructional improvement across the district. Equipped with a comprehensive, anonymized analysis of the state of instruction, curriculum, and instructional systems, the findings helped inform Omaha Public Schools' strategy for supporting the coaching and development of school leaders as instructional leaders, enabling strategic decisions about what systems, structures, coaching, and development would be most beneficial in increasing school and district leadership capacity around instructional leadership. The review also provided individual school leaders with evidence-based insight into the state of early literacy instruction within their schools to determine instructional priorities for the school year and create a strategic plan based on the data and trends revealed through classroom observations, stakeholder interviews, and artifact analysis.

Tab 6 – Service Approach and Implementation

Phase	Purpose	Resources/Activities
Discovery Phase	In this initial phase, we embark on a journey of understanding. We engage with our partners to learn about their unique school community, building relationships with teachers, school leadership, and students. Vision Setting and Strategic Planning Phase	Once we have a comprehensive understanding of the context, we collaboratively develop a shared vision. This phase involves analyzing collected data, conducting root cause analysis, and setting priorities for our work. Together, we create a theory of action, establish goals, and determine individual roles. By developing a strategic plan, we chart a clear path toward instructional growth and improved outcomes.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Data review • Root cause analysis • Determine priorities and focus of our work • Determine how each stakeholder will support the strategic plan • Determine metrics for success • Develop strategic plan
Support and Capacity Building Phase	In this phase, we bring the strategic plan to life. This reflective analysis informs strategic revisions and ensures that our partnership remains responsive and aligned with evolving needs.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Analyze growth from the initial strategic plan goals • Determine where we need more information

CLI's Core Service Model provides a structure for consistent data gathering that allows us to focus on the most important research-based activities that impact children's learning and to measure if our approach is working systemically.

Throughout our partnership with Henrico Public Schools, we will engage school and systems leaders with learning experiences grounded in the Core Service Model. This will serve as the bridge to explicitly transfer structural knowledge by promoting skill development, active participation, application of knowledge, and continuous feedback to directly apply their learning in a meaningful context. The Core Service Model phases serve as a blueprint for school leaders to continue these developmental practices within their schools for ongoing capacity building.

Our Framework for Teaching and Learning is the cornerstone of our work with our partners, and it drives us through our Core Service Model. CLI's Framework for Teaching and Learning is rooted in the seminal research of Dr. Richard Elmore, Dr. Gloria Ladson-Billings, Dr. Ghoddy Muhammed, and Dr. Zaretta Hammond. The Framework was created to support coaches in gathering instructional data, offering usable feedback, leveraging data within strategic planning, setting priorities and goals to enhance professional development sessions, and coaching and developing teachers and school leaders by asking the following essential questions:

- Are children engaging with curriculum and materials that are challenging, authentic, and affirming and value diverse experiences?
- Are teachers acting as thoughtful and planned facilitators of learning and supporting children to engage in the heavy thinking work of the lesson?
- How are children seizing opportunities to build their own knowledge and support the learning of others?
- How are teachers creating and leveraging classroom conditions that support the diverse needs of children?

We are dedicated to empowering schools with comprehensive data reporting and progress-tracking solutions that facilitate school improvement efforts. We aim to tell new evidence-based stories that illuminate the significant impact of high-quality, culturally responsive teaching on a child's literacy journey. The Framework guides our work by focusing our attention on the most important levers for instructional improvement—the teacher, the content, the children, and the interactions among all three. In response to our increasingly technological world, the content of the Framework can be accessed and organized through the convenience of an app.

In alignment with the Framework for Teaching and Learning, CLI's new coaching app enables coaches to collect, organize, and use these data sources to drive and support their coaching practice while readily accessing student learning and teacher practice data. The app will help CLI and its partners to expand our understanding of how improvements in a teacher's instruction lead to the outcomes for children. It will also help stakeholders ensure that children are getting the thoughtful, rigorous instruction they deserve and generate rich insights for continuous improvement.

Inputting data into the app allows for real-time reports to help CLI and our partners identify trends and target areas for improvement with intentionality. Utilizing the Framework for Teaching and Learning throughout the Core Service Model, including the Vision Setting and Strategic Planning Phase, allows for alignment between CLI's vision and Henrico's vision for instruction. These critical conversations allow for a more meaningful implementation with all parties working toward a common and specific goal. These reports anchor our work in evidence and data to propel us into the creation of an effective strategic plan. Data from the app is also used in both the root cause analysis and Stepback Phase of our Core Service Model. Our robust data reporting service provides schools with efficient tools to track their progress towards established goals.

Examples of Diagnostic Reports

School-Based Support at Henrico

To best support schools and drive toward shared goals, CLI begins every project by working in close collaboration with our partners to leverage and build on the strengths of existing practices, programs, and curriculums.

We work hard to understand our partner's experiences and vision, and then provide thought partnership to help achieve instructional goals. Most importantly, we value leaders, strive to build on their existing strengths, and grow their capacity to support equitable instruction. Through inquiry and a collaborative approach, we support school and systems leaders in creating spaces and places where children experience joy, leverage their genius, and work together toward a more just world.

To do this, we first spend time working alongside the school leadership team, engaging in discovery, vision setting, and strategic planning. Gathering this data on the individual school level allows us to create customized action plans that focus on the most important research-based activities to meet individual partner needs and impact children's learning. At the same time, we provide support and guidance to the school leadership to further enhance their toolkit to drive instructional improvement efforts.

Discovery

We believe it is essential to develop a deep understanding of the Henrico Public Schools' context to design a plan to create true growth and improvement in elementary literacy practice. Our proposed scope of work will kick off with a four-day discovery, during which CLI will work with district and school leaders to align on a vision for effective, equitable, and culturally sustaining instructional practices. As such, CLI will work collaboratively through the discovery process, which will include:

- Reviewing the diagnostic and baseline performance data for sample Henrico elementary schools, including the 21 Title 1 elementary schools
- Reviewing instructional materials
- Observing instruction through Learning Walks
- Analyzing assessment data and children's work
- Speaking with stakeholders (including school leaders, teachers, caregivers, and children)
- Participating in team leader-led activities (e.g., team meetings, teacher observations/feedback)
- Learning more about the Henrico vision for coaching and aligning on a vision for CLI support in selected schools

During Learning Walks, we will:

- Develop a strong, centralized vision and plan for excellent instruction by aligning currently used instructional frameworks with CLI's Framework for Teaching and Learning indicators
- Observe lessons and engage in a facilitated debrief where stakeholders review effective practices using CLI's Framework for Teaching and Learning to discuss the evidence they saw in classrooms
- Observe for equity to have open and honest discussions about who is getting access to rigorous content and where we need to provide additional support

Deliverables include:

- District collaboration and intake meetings
- A leader intake meeting
- Learning Walks in a sample of elementary schools
- Teacher, student, and/or caregiver focus groups
- Participation in team leader-led activities
- An instructional diagnostic analysis report of current literacy practices

Vision Setting and Strategic Planning

CLI will collaborate with district and school leadership to develop a clear, comprehensive plan for instructional improvement that identifies goals and outcomes and establishes a division of responsibilities for implementation at the district level to identify the highest leverage areas to focus on, including recommendations for the schools and educators that will receive coaching. Selected school and systems leaders will identify the root causes and issues that lead to performance challenges and identify instructional leadership practices they will need to execute to successfully support the strategic plan.

CLI leaders can leverage literacy expertise and identify key levers in strategic planning for instructional improvement. Our deep understanding of literacy development, instructional methodologies, and assessment strategies equips us with the knowledge and insights needed to identify areas for growth and improvement in literacy instruction. By analyzing data, researching best practices, and staying current with the latest literacy research, we can pinpoint specific instructional strategies or resources that will have the greatest impact on student learning outcomes. This expertise allows us to guide strategic planning discussions and advocate for evidence-based practices grounded in data that will positively impact teacher practice to increase student engagement, comprehension, and overall literacy skills. The plan will leverage assets and structures in the district and schools and identify and fill leadership and instructional opportunities. We will work to ensure that on-site support and coaching are tailored to the needs of each school and set each team up for success in between school-based support opportunities.

Deliverables include:

- A strategic plan that identifies the schools and educators CLI will support
- The crucial levers, tactics, individualized coaching, and leadership goals
- Next steps, owners, and a timetable that will improve instructional practices, strengthen standards-aligned instruction, and increase student learning

Build and Support Capacity for Instructional Improvement Through Onsite Coaching

Leveraging the data analysis as coaching levers and executing the action steps developed in partnership with district and school leaders through strategic planning, CLI will provide two onsite coaching days per week for 30 weeks that can be used flexibly to support direct teacher coaching and peer coaching and offer school leader support and training workshops.

Deliverables include:Onsite Days for Job-Embedded Peer Coach and Leader Support

During onsite coaching and support for peer coaches and school leaders, CLI coaches work one-on-one or with small groups to diagnose instruction against the vision, design effective feedback, enhance an inclusive culture and climate, and apply new skills in their daily context. The focus of support can be on specific leadership skills, coaching moves, participants' beliefs and ways of being, and the impact this all has on school success. CLI coaches will conduct observations, give feedback, and provide personalized recommendations to support implementation. Coaching helps peer coaches and leaders become more reflective practitioners, developing professional habits of mind and leadership expertise.

Peer and leader coaching/support

- establishes a clear vision of high-quality, equitable instruction that supports all children
- establishes the responsibilities and structures for teacher capacity-building and coaching support
- enhances knowledge of data analysis, instructional strategies, and peer coaching
- adopts effective change management practices, goal setting, and short and long-range planning, that maintain alignment and commitment among all stakeholders

Teacher Coaching

During direct teacher coaching, CLI coaches work one-on-one or with small groups of classroom teachers to critically examine their instructional practice against the vision, enhance classroom culture and environment, and apply new skills across context and content areas. The focus of support can be on building literacy knowledge, instructional moves, participants' beliefs and ways of being, and the impact this all has on student success. CLI coaches will employ a toolkit of transformational coaching activities, including observation, feedback, lesson planning, shared reading, collegial visits, and modeling to support instructional improvement.

Teacher coaching and support:

- Establishes a clear vision of high-quality, equitable instruction that supports all children
- Ensures the effective implementation of literacy instruction, aligned with the district's overarching vision for academic excellence.
- Enhances knowledge of data analysis and instructional strategies

Training Workshops

Facilitated by our team of teaching and learning experts, CLI's specialized series of trainings support educators, coaches, and leaders to increase instructional practice in key areas of learning. Our seminar content library is included in the appendix of our proposal and can be delivered during one of the onsite days.

See the attached training catalog for a full list of CLI training offerings.

Stepbacks

In all of our partnerships, we incorporate opportunities for taking a step back and reviewing our progress

oward our goals throughout the partnership. As a result, we can work together as partners in mutual accountability, track the status of our implementation efforts, and evaluate the results. Following some time to concentrate on implementation, CLI, district, and school teams conduct Learning Walks to evaluate changes in teacher leadership and instruction as well as to adjust our strategic plan as needed. These stepbacks happen semi-annually and are planned opportunities for stakeholders to collect data, reflect on progress toward strategic plan goals, and adjust the action plan accordingly.

Deliverables include:

- A revised strategic plan outlining the progress made towards goals and activities
- New crucial levers and/or tactics that may be identified that will continue to improve strategies, strengthen standards-aligned instruction, and increase child learning

Evaluation and Reporting

CLI commits to ensuring that the professional development, coaching, and support services delivered to the Henrico Public Schools not only adhere to the highest standards of quality and efficacy but also embrace a diverse range of data reporting. Our comprehensive evaluation and reporting approach encompasses formative evaluations, initial and ongoing evaluations, reporting, and findings. We have established a robust methodology for formative evaluations. We utilize specialized templates to meticulously record coaching data and continuously monitor progress toward their specific goals. Each coaching session is purposefully designed to focus on identified measurable coaching goals, and teacher leaders receive consistent feedback and support on their progress. A transparent and comprehensive report to demonstrate the impact on coaching support, teacher leader development, instructional practice, and student outcomes is provided at the end of the project.

Deliverables include:

- Our formative and summative reportings that align instructional data with the criteria set by the school district for school and systems leaders
- Weekly reports provided to the district's Title I specialist and to the principal(s) of the school location where services are provided
- Our final, in-depth outcomes report that includes an overview of services provided aligned to instructional improvements in student performance and test scores
- Thoughtful, programmatic recommendations for the upcoming year

Throughout the scope of work below, you will see how CLI can use all on-site days to support a variety of activities to meet the district's outlined services and the needs of individual school sites. The on-site days are used flexibly to diagnose the state of instruction and provide training, coaching, and support to teachers, peer coaches, and leaders.

CLI Partnership Agreement

[INSERT SCHOOL DISTRICT NAME]

Literacy is the very foundation of all learning and the pathway to liberation for every human being.

Who we are

Transforming Early Literacy

Founded in Philadelphia in 1988, Children’s Literacy Initiative (CLI) is a national 501(c)(3) non-profit focused on strengthening public education in the United States by ensuring students can read proficiently by the end of third grade. CLI seeks to dismantle structural racism by providing Black and Latinx children with the anti-racist early literacy instruction, support, and advocacy needed to create equity in education.

Learning to read is far more significant than building skills – it is an act of liberation. By helping educators learn high-impact, culturally sustaining instructional strategies and nurturing dynamic professional learning communities, CLI builds lasting capacity in teachers’ and principals’ schools and systems over time to advance equity in education.

In working with teachers to improve instruction, developing a teacher’s instructional expertise impacts student learning and all the children taught throughout a teacher’s career.

When catalyzed within our culturally sustaining early literacy model, CLI programs cultivate strong and joyful readers who become lifelong learners.

Through our partnership, we seek to show what is possible when schools have the support necessary to accelerate early literacy learning. Our goal is to support [INSERT CLIENT NAME] to dramatically improve equitable early literacy outcomes for children. We are eager to be part of this robust and integrated approach. This proposal provides the program requirements needed to improve teacher practice, strengthen instructional leadership and accelerate student learning.

<INSERT SUMMARY OF OUR APPROACH TO LEARNING>

This CLI Partnership Agreement (the “Agreement”) is entered into as of the last date signed by the Parties below (“Effective Date”), by and between Children’s Literacy Initiative, whose principal address is located at 990 Spring Garden Street, Suite 400, Philadelphia, PA 19123 (“CLI”), and [INSERT SCHOOL DISTRICT NAME] whose principal address is located at [INSERT SCHOOL DISTRICT ADDRESS, IF AVAILABLE] (“Partner”). CLI and Partner are each referred to as a “Party” and collectively, as the “Parties.” In consideration of the mutual promises set forth herein, the Parties hereby agree as follows:

1. Scope of Services; Acceptance Criteria

CLI will provide the services described in the Statement of Work (“SOW”) attached hereto as Exhibit A (the “Services”) and incorporated herein by reference. The Parties may create additional Statements of Works, each of which upon signing will be deemed a part of this Agreement. A Statement of Work may be amended from time to time by mutual written consent of the Parties.

The Parties may jointly develop a set of specifications for each Deliverable (“Acceptance Criteria”). If, as applicable, a Deliverable repeatedly fails to conform to the Acceptance Criteria over a period of thirty (30) days, Partner shall give a written notice to CLI stating the deficiencies, and CLI will, at no cost to Partner, use commercially reasonable efforts to correct any such deficiencies. If the deficiencies are not corrected within thirty (30) days after the date CLI is notified by Partner of such deficiencies, Partner reserves the right to terminate the Agreement upon notice to CLI.

2. Obligations of the Parties

Each Party agrees to comply with and fulfil its obligations set forth in Exhibit C (“Conditions for Success”) attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference.

3. Payment of Fees

In consideration for the Services, Partner will pay to CLI the fees as set forth in the applicable Statement of Work (the “Fees”) on the terms set forth in such Statement of Work.

4. Term and Termination

This Agreement will commence on the Effective Date and remain in effect until terminated as set forth herein (“Term”). CLI may terminate this Agreement and/or any Statement of Work at will upon ten (10) days prior written notice to Partner or as otherwise set forth herein. Partner may terminate this Agreement: (a) at will, upon ten (10) days prior written notice to CLI, if there is no Statement of Work in effect; (b) at will, upon sixty (60) days prior written notice to CLI, or (c) immediately, for a material breach by CLI that remains uncured for thirty (30) days following written notice thereof to CLI. Termination of this Agreement will terminate all Statement of Work(s) then in effect.

5. Intellectual Property Rights; Ownership

CLI is and will remain the sole and exclusive owner of all right, title, and interest throughout the world in and to (a) its pre-existing or independently developed Intellectual Property Rights (“CLI Pre-Existing IP”) and (b) all Inventions and Deliverables arising from this Agreement or any Statement of Work, and all Intellectual Property Rights embodied therein. For the purposes of this Agreement, “Deliverables” means any documents, work product, and materials prepared for Partner by or on behalf of CLI in the course of performing the Services; “Intellectual Property Rights” means

CLI hereby grants to Partner a non-exclusive, non-transferable, perpetual and irrevocable (except for breach of this Agreement, including this license), worldwide, fully paid, royalty-free license to (a) the Deliverables solely for Partner’s internal purposes, and (b) CLI Pre-Existing IP solely as necessary to use the Deliverables.

Partner will retain all right, title, and interest in and to its pre-existing or independently developed Intellectual Property Rights (“Partner Pre-Existing IP”), subject to Partner’s grant of the following license. Partner hereby grants CLI a fully paid, royalty free, perpetual and irrevocable (except for breach of this Agreement), worldwide license, with right to sublicense, to make, use, sell, copy, distribute, perform, display, and otherwise exploit such Partner Pre-Existing IP to the extent helpful or necessary (a) to provide the Services and (b) for CLI’s exploitation of the Deliverables.

CLI has developed a framework for teaching and learning to assist it in the performance of the Services (the “Framework”). CLI may grant Partner access to complete, partially complete, or incomplete (“blank”) versions of its the Framework, either in digital or tangible form. Partner agrees that the Framework is the sole and exclusive property of CLI, and Partner does not obtain any ownership rights to the Framework under this Agreement, except for the limited license granted in this Section 5 to the extent that the Framework is incorporated into a Deliverable. Partner will not share, sell, copy, record, reproduce, or prepare derivative works of the Framework, whether complete, partially complete, or incomplete, by any means for any purpose, without CLI’s prior written consent in each instance. For the avoidance of doubt, Partner may not use the Framework, for example, by analyzing a class in accordance with the Framework.

Partner further grants CLI a fully paid, royalty free, worldwide license to use the Data (as defined in the DSA) to the extent helpful or necessary to provide the Services. Partner represents and warrants that it has all the rights and consents necessary to grant the foregoing license to CLI.

10. Recruitment and Hiring Practices

Neither Party will make an offer of employment to a current employee of the other for a period of employment which begins during the current year (i.e. July 1 to June 30) of the Term of the Agreement. Both Parties may make offers of employment for the following school year, and receive applications throughout the school year to be retained for consideration for future positions for the following school year.

Criminal History Record Information (CHRI) fingerprint background check is completed for all staff members at least 18 years of age who are or will be working at Partner's property on a regularly scheduled basis, to determine whether any such person has been convicted of a crime, as specified in P.L. 2000, c. 77 and that said check indicates that no criminal history record information exists on file in either the Identification Division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation or the State Bureau of Identification which would disqualify said employee from employment pursuant to law or that the check reveals a disqualifying offense and the individual has demonstrated rehabilitation. Exhibit B

Data Sharing Agreement

This DSA has the following overriding goals:

1. Preserving the anonymity of student identities, through the use of proxy identifiers, including assurance that identifiable student data is not released to third parties. Student confidentiality is protected via proxy identifiers that provide CLI information for analysis based on aggregate data, but protects the identity of individual students and
2. Enhancing the ability of Partner and CLI to improve professional development for Partner teachers by allowing CLI to conduct surveys of teachers and principals and to receive K-3 student level longitudinal data (i.e., multiple administrations of the same assessment, where available to track growth) at mid-year (after mid-year assessments) and end of year (see Appendix A for all data requested).

NOW, THEREFORE, THE DISTRICT AND CLI AGREE AS FOLLOWS:

I. OBLIGATIONS OF CLI

CLI, representing all members of the organization, shall use commercially reasonable efforts to ensure the confidentiality of student data provided to CLI by or on behalf of Partner (the “Data”) through the following methods:

- a. CLI shall reasonably comply with all state and federal laws that apply to the use and release of the Data, including but not limited to FERPA and its regulations, set forth at 34 C.F.R. § Part 99.
- b. CLI shall comply with the re-disclosure limitations set forth in FERPA, including 34 C.F.R. § Part 99.33.
- c. CLI shall use commercially reasonable efforts to restrict access to the Data only to (i) the person or persons who provide direct services to Partner teachers; or (ii) the person or persons within CLI’s organization who have been tasked with analyzing the Data; and make those persons aware of, and agree to abide by, the terms set forth in this Agreement.
- d. CLI shall use commercially reasonable efforts not to release or otherwise reveal, directly or indirectly, the Data to any individual, agency, entity, or third party not included in this Agreement, unless such disclosure is required by law or court order.
- e. CLI shall not use Data shared under this Agreement for any purpose other than the goals outlined in this Agreement. Nothing in the Agreement shall be construed to authorize CLI to have access to additional data from Partner that is not included in the scope of the Agreement (or addenda). CLI understands that the Agreement does not convey ownership of the Data to CLI.

f. CLI shall take commercially reasonable security precautions and protections to ensure that persons not authorized to view the Data do not gain access to the Data. Commercially reasonable security precautions and protections include, but are not limited to:

1. Creating, distributing, and implementing data governance policies and procedures which protect the Data through appropriate administrative, technical, and physical security safeguards, and outline staff responsibilities for maintaining data security;
2. Establish and enforce well-defined data privilege rights which restrict users' access to the Data necessary for them to perform their job functions;
3. Securing access to any physical areas/electronic devices where sensitive Data are stored;

g. CLI shall report all known or suspected breaches of Data, in any format, to the District within forty-eight hours of learning of the breach. The report shall include (1) the name, job title, and contact information of the person reporting the incident; (2) the name, job title, and contact information of the person who discovered the incident; (3) date and time the incident was discovered; (4) nature of the incident (e.g., system level electronic breach, an electronic breach of one computer or device, or a breach of hard copies of records); (5) a description of the information lost or compromised; (6) name of electronic system and possible interconnectivity with other systems; (7) storage medium from which information was lost or compromised; (8) controls in place to prevent unauthorized use of the lost or compromised information; (9) number of individuals potentially affected; and (10) whether law enforcement was contacted.

h. CLI shall use commercially reasonable efforts to securely and permanently destroy the Data, and any and all hard and soft (electronic) copies thereof, upon the termination of this Agreement. CLI agrees to require all employees, contractors, or agents of any kind using the Data to comply with this provision. CLI agrees to document the methods used to destroy the Data, and upon request, provide certification to Partner that the Data has been destroyed.

i. CLI has the right consistent with scientific standards, to present, publish, or use student results it has gained in the course of its analysis, but only if the publication, presentation, or use does not include personally identifiable information of parents, students, or teachers.

j. Should CLI present, publish, or use student results it has gained in the course of its analysis, Requestor shall adhere to the following terms:

1. CLI shall not publish, present, or use reports that include a cell size of less than 10. Reports must mask these cells so that the results are not revealed.
2. Publications and reports of Data, including preliminary descriptions and draft reports, shall involve only aggregate Data and no personally identifiable information or other information that could lead to the identification of any student, parent, or teacher.

EXHIBIT C

Conditions for Success

At CLI we're eager to ensure your investment in our services yields the strongest possible impact for the students you serve, and the educators you employ. We know a strong partnership, with clear commitments to each other is vital to project success. Below we've outlined the commitments we at CLI will make to our clients, and in turn the commitments we're hoping you'll make to us.

CLI Obligations:

At CLI we agree to:

- Maintain the integrity and privacy of any student data you share— We are committed to supporting you as you comply with local and federal student data privacy and online safety regulations. We also care about employing data privacy and sharing best practices to promote students' health and wellbeing. (see "data sharing agreement" for additional details on our commitment to you)
- Formally communicate mutually agreed upon programmatic changes in writing, as they occur – We want to ensure both Parties are always clear about next steps, goals and outcomes, especially in cases where they evolve throughout the course of the project.
- Utilize a rigorous recruitment and selection process to hire coaches and project staff – We know that high-quality coaches are a key to project success.
- Develop and deliver ongoing trainings (at least monthly) to coaches – Not only do we want to find great talent, but we strive to continuously improve the practices of our staff, and stay abreast of best practices.
- Deeply understand the context of our clients, including understanding the community of children and caregivers you serve, and the educators you employ – We know that no two clients are alike, and we want to ensure our services are customized to meet the particular needs of the communities we serve.

Shared Obligations:

Both Parties agree to:

- Engage in consistent and responsive two-way communication - Communication is the cornerstone of a strong partnership and ensures the project can proceed efficiently and effectively. Where possible, we commit to responding to each others' inquiries within two business days.

Partner Obligations:

Partner agrees to:

- Provide CLI with access to curricular resources – This enables CLI staff to support educators' effective implementation of the curricular resources being used by your school or district

- Provide CLI with access to school schedules, in particular information about the master literacy block schedule –This enables our coaches’ to thoughtfully plan and schedule time with educators, and enables our interventionists to schedule time with students
- Provide CLI coaches/interventionists with work space in Partner’s buildings – This allows CLI staff to spend their mindshare on supporting your educators, instead of figuring out tactically where to meet or conduct work. Ideally coaches and interventionists would have dedicated space to work and store belongings.
- Provide CLI with information about the roster of educators in each of Partner’s school buildings - This data enables CLI to thoughtfully plot out how coaching and other services will be delivered, and to track what has been delivered to whom. See data requirements above in Online Data Request section.
- Provide CLI with access to student data – This helps our team assess whether we’re moving the needle against goals and measures you care about, and enables our team to see where we’re making progress, learn more about where we’re encountering obstacles, and plan ways to overcome challenges. (See CLI’s “data sharing agreement” for more information).
- Provide CLI coaches/interventionists access to printers/copiers –This enables school-based CLI staff to quickly access print materials needed to facilitate strong meetings with educators, and to successfully teach, demo and/or co-teach lessons to students.
- Provide details about upcoming CLI hosted events a month in advance – At CLI we deliver our strongest training when we have time to understand what content is needed, who the attendees are, and what physical (or virtual) space we’ll be using to deliver the training.
- Provide CLI staff with opportunities to attend applicable Partner-trainings and/or gain awareness of major Partner initiatives related to literacy –This enables the CLI team to make sure our initiatives are aligned with yours, and that we’re on the same page in communicating with your educators.

Tab 7 – Pricing / Cost Proposal

Teachers receiving dedicated literacy coaching not only witness significant enhancements in their literacy instruction but research indicates a notable positive impact on their approach to math instruction as well. The cross-disciplinary influence stems from the interconnected cognitive processes involved in both literacy and math skills development. As educators refine their pedagogical strategies in literacy through targeted coaching, they often find parallel benefits in their math instruction, fostering a more comprehensive and integrated approach to teaching. This underscores the interconnected nature of academic skills and highlights the transformative potential of literacy coaching on overall instructional practices.

CLI is enthusiastic about the prospect of beginning an impactful relationship with Henrico. We carefully crafted our cost proposal with the assumption that Henrico will be engaging a separate vendor for math coaching. The scope of work proposed represents a $110,550 investment in district-wide elementary literacy coaching using a 2-onsite days per week model (6 hourlong coaching sessions per onsite day) that can be flexibly allocated across the 46 elementary schools. Our 4-day discovery allows us to build the deep understanding of the state of instruction district-wide so that we can be adaptive in our support structures and lean-in when vacancies arise. It is our understanding that the specific schools that our partnership would support are still being determined - so our Discovery period would allow for the systems-wide knowledge building required to provide on-demand capacity.

Total Cost: $110,550
Budget details in table below

Additional onsite days can be added to the scope at a rate of $1540 per onsite day (each onsite day consists of 6 hourlong coaching sessions). Virtual Coaching Sessions can be added to the scope at a rate of $315/hourlong session.

Coaching Services for Elementary

Questions & Answers
January 23, 2024

1. Question: Page 3, numbers 7 & 8, indicate that weekly updates to principals and daily submissions are to be made. Is the idea to have a contracted individual/s on each site daily? Or does this mean on the day that coaching services are provided?

Answer: When coaching services are contracted, it will typically be for 3-4 days a week.

2. Question: How many teachers do you estimate the contractor will provide coaching services to?

Answer: This will differ per school based on need and the amount of time a coach is assigned to the school.

3. Question: In section B:2a of Scope of Services, it specifies that the contractor needs expertise in reading and math coaching. Is this a deal breaker if he or she does not, but has had success in b through f?

Answer: Coaching services will be contracted to support teachers in the areas of reading and/or math.

4. Question: Will your district accept retired educators with expertise in reading/language arts and math content areas?

Answer: Yes.

5. Question: Are you hoping to award this RFP to one vendor? OR are you open to awarding to multiple vendors, one that would focus on literacy and another that would focus on math?

Answer: HCPS may consider multiple awards.

6. Question: Can Vendors provide coaching for reading or math, or would the District prefer Vendors offer coaching for both reading and math?

Answer: We would prefer vendors who can offer coaching for both reading and math.

7. Question: What curricula is the District currently using for reading and math instruction?

Answer: Advanced Benchmark will be used for reading beginning 2024. There is not a specific curriculum used for math.

8. Question: Are the number of coaching days different per school according to need, and Title I allocations?
- Answer: Yes
9. Question: Is there an average number of days per week that a coach would be in a school?
- Answer: It depends on the budget for the individual school.
10. Question: Will coaches be allowed to work with teachers on asynchronous days provided arrangements have been made with teachers the day before?
- Answer: No
11. Question: Can you please list the platforms that HCPS uses for professional development and teacher observation and how the HCPS uses each?
- Answer: Typically, professional development is provided in person. There is not a specific platform for teacher observations for coaches to utilize since coaches are not evaluative. Informal learning walks occur for coaching conversations.
12. Question: Can you confirm that coaches serve as peer instructional coaches, and elaborate on the expectations of the peer coaching model?
- Answer: Coaching is not evaluative. Types of coaching activities may include planning with teachers, modeling best practices, coteaching, and conducting learning walks.
13. Question: Can you please share what the maximum budget is for this RFP?
- Answer: $200,000.
14. Question: What are the expected dates that coaching will begin and end?
- Answer: This will vary based on the needs of individual schools.
15. Question: How many schools and teachers would need coaching?
- Answer: This will vary depending on filled unfilled coaching vacancies.
16. Question: Given the contract will start in March/April when schools have already hired their teachers, how many teachers would need coaching in each school? This helps us better understand how many Instructional Coaches would need to be deployed to each school. It would also be helpful to know how many coaches are needed per grade/ per school.
- Answer: This will vary per school. Likely, coaches will not be hired until the 2024-2025 school year unless there is a need at a school for the remainder of the year.

17. Question: Is there 2023 ELA and Math data available for each school listed in the RFP? If so, can we please have access to it?

Answer: School Profiles may be accessed on the VDOE site.

Literacy is the very foundation of all learning and the pathway to liberation for every human being.

OUR VISION

Children's Literacy Initiative seeks to dismantle structural racism by providing Black and Latinx children with the antiracist early literacy instruction, support, and advocacy needed to create equity in education.

We are working towards creating a more equitable education system, one that promotes early literacy, cultural competency, and equitable outcomes for all students, particularly Black and Latinx students who have long been disproportionately isolated from the resources to obtain the education they deserve. CLI believes that literacy is a vital pathway to create lasting social change and foster a just and equitable society.

LETTER FROM CEO AND BOARD CHAIR

Dr. Diana Greene
CEO

Sandra Louk LaFleur
Board Chair

We are thrilled to share our Impact Report for fiscal year 2023. It is a true celebration of the past year and 35 years of CLI's work to empower children, educators, and communities through literacy. This report highlights the remarkable progress we've made this year in our mission to instill a lifelong love of reading in Black and Latinx children.

First and foremost, we want to express our heartfelt gratitude to our school partners, philanthropic investors, and all the volunteers who support us. Your contributions have made an incredible impact on the lives of the children we serve. With your help, we were able to reach and support over 16,468 children, 2,456 educators, and 781 classrooms.

This past year, CLI worked with teachers, school leaders, and district leaders to diagnose and strengthen early literacy instruction so that every child we served could experience mastery, success, and the freedom to shape their own future. We are equipping and empowering educators with skills that will endure, allowing CLI to touch the lives of every student they teach over the lifetime of their careers. This is an impact that is sustained long after CLI coaching and training are complete.

We believe that literacy is the foundation of lifelong learning and a powerful tool for understanding and questioning the world around us. If we don't educate our children, we risk our democracy, and we risk our ability to live up to our country's potential.

Literacy provides children with mirrors into themselves and windows into worlds of possibility. CLI is dedicated to providing literacy instruction that liberates children, inspires them to dream bigger, and empowers them to be their most authentic selves. We're firmly committed to creating a world where all children have access to equitable education, and where they're empowered to become transformative thinkers and world-changers.

Our report is a testament to the incredible power of culturally sustaining early literacy instruction, support, and advocacy. We are excited to enter this next phase of impact at this critical time in education. We hope that this report will inspire you to join us in building a lasting legacy of literacy and empowerment for generations to come.

DRIVING IMPACT FOR CHANGE

Working with pre-kindergarten through fifth grade teachers, CLI is transforming literacy instruction and early childhood education so that children learn to read as a powerful act of identity, agency, and cultural joy.

We accomplish this by providing (virtually or in-person):

- One-on-one embedded teacher coaching
- Trainings on the best practices in early literacy instruction
- Leadership development to support sustainable change
- High-quality classroom books and materials

By helping educators learn high-impact instructional strategies and nurturing dynamic professional learning communities, CLI builds lasting capacity in teachers and principals that endures over time.

We value the feedback from the teachers, principals, and educators we partner with. Educators must feel empowered and equipped with the necessary tools, resources, and knowledge to drive impactful change in classrooms, schools, and districts. CLI's project surveys provide insight into how we are building teacher and leader capacity.

responding instructional leaders said that they were satisfied with CLI-facilitated walkthroughs and Learning Walks.

CLI has helped my students' literacy learning this year by providing me with a wonderful CLI Coach. She has supported my students and me a lot this year. One student in particular, who was struggling to read and was on a beginning kindergarten level, has made great progress this year.

[She] provided many phonics/phonemic awareness activities for me to use with this student. She also modeled small group lessons and visits my class every Tuesday. She has established a rapport with my students, particularly the student who was struggling to read. She would take the time to bring her to the school library each week to choose books on her level.

Thanks to [her], this student is making progress, reading on a first/beginning second grade level, and writing responses to comprehension questions, which she wasn't able to do before.

A NEW LEADER, A RENEWED COMMITMENT

We are proud to announce Dr. Diana L. Greene as the organization's next Chief Executive Officer (CEO). Founded in 1988 by former librarian Linda Katz, Children's Literacy Initiative is a nonprofit organization with more than 34 years of experience developing the instructional strengths of educators and leaders in pre-k – grade 6 schools in order to amplify and sustain powerful learning outcomes for children.

Dr. Greene has served in public education for over 37 years, previously holding roles as a classroom teacher, school principal, and, most recently, serving as the Superintendent of Duval County Public Schools (DCPS), the 20th-largest school district in the nation.

A champion of children, families, and educators, Dr. Greene oversaw many transformative changes at DCPS. She increased and maintained the district's highest graduation rates over her five-year tenure, removing all schools from the state's turnaround list, while cutting the number of low-performing schools by more than half and leading the transition to remote learning during the COVID 19 pandemic. Dr. Greene successfully led the passage of two voter referendums, raising more than $2 billion over 15 years to replace and repair school buildings and increase teacher compensation.

With a deep commitment to social justice and racial healing, Dr. Greene also oversaw the renaming of six Duval County public schools that honored Confederate leaders. Dr. Diana Greene concluded her exceptional tenure as one of only a handful of Black women in the country serving as superintendents of large school districts. Recently, the Jacksonville Public Library unveiled the Dr. Diana Greene Children's Reading Place, a literacy center located on its main campus, in recognition of Dr. Greene's contributions as DCPS superintendent and her passion for literacy.

"Following an extensive national search, we are thrilled to have Dr. Greene lead CLI into its next phase of impact," stated Sandra Louk LaFleur, Chair of the Board of Directors at Children's Literacy Initiative. "CLI advances work at the intersection of professional learning, literacy, and equity, all aimed at enhancing children's learning journeys and reading outcomes in collaboration with our school partners. Dr. Greene's exceptional leadership expertise at the school district level, her unwavering dedication to childhood literacy, acumen in resource development, and profound commitment to equity in education will propel CLI forward in fulfilling its mission at a most vital time in the field of education."

"As I embark on my next chapter in the journey to empower educators and children, joining CLI is a tremendous honor," said Dr. Diana L. Greene, CEO of Children's Literacy Initiative. "Now, more than ever, it is crucial to prioritize high-quality professional learning support for teachers and ensure that children receive the effective, joyful, and culturally responsive literacy instruction they deserve. I am thrilled to join an organization that places such immense importance on equity and evidence-based learning, and the Science of Reading, and eagerly anticipate collaborating with school and district partners nationwide to collectively build and sustain powerful learning communities."

EVOLVING AND ADAPTING: LEARNING TOUR FOUNDATIONS

Erica Holmes-Ware
Chief Program Officer

Last year, we reached a pivotal point in our organizational journey, embarking on a project to develop a crucial component of our educational framework: the "Foundations" page. This initiative was not merely about keeping pace with the latest findings in children's literacy research. It was an expansive effort to comprehensively understand the diverse facets of teaching and learning, integrating various critical perspectives. Our goal was to create a tool to assist teachers, coaches, and school leaders in assessing the current state of early literacy instruction and instructional practices, aligning them with their vision for culturally relevant and sustaining pedagogy, affirming identities, and antiracist literacy instruction.

Our journey took us to various locations, including Broward, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, and Northern New Jersey (NNJ). These visits were integral to our mission of empowering stakeholders to make data-driven decisions to foster the growth and development of teachers. Our focus was on improving instructional practices and creating classroom cultures and experiences that affirm and uplift students. We aimed to continue developing a tool centered on teacher coaching and development.

I loved the support and resources shared ... through CLL. I loved [the] many lessons and planning I was able to do this year. I have to say that the book tasting idea that my coach introduced me to was one of my favorites. She was supportive and flexible with my crazy schedule. I truly appreciate her candor and sweet disposition. She made this year so pleasant.

Teacher
CLL-supported school

Engaging with parents and caregivers was a central aspect of our approach. We recognized their crucial role in shaping a child's learning environment and sought their insights on the educational process. Understanding their perspectives on developmental needs and their aspirations for their children's literacy experiences provided us with invaluable viewpoints often overlooked in traditional educational frameworks.

Another key component was our in-depth engagement with teachers. As primary educators, their insights are crucial. We explored their experiences in teaching and learning within their specific school environments, including both their successes and challenges. These discussions were vital in identifying the support teachers need to provide excellent literacy instruction. By understanding their challenges, we could tailor our framework to be more effective and supportive.

Our efforts to gain a holistic understanding led us to visit classrooms across all our markets. These visits allowed us to observe the current state of teaching and learning, focusing on understanding the developmental needs of students and the necessity for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion on school campuses. These experiences provided us with a comprehensive view of the educational landscape and the diverse needs across different regions and demographics.

Interviews with students were enlightening, offering direct insight into their experiences and perspectives on teaching and learning, as well as their hopes and dreams for their classroom experience. This student feedback was invaluable in assessing the effectiveness of current teaching methods and identifying areas for improvement.

Our comprehensive approach involving engagement with parents, teachers, classroom visits, and student interviews enabled us to gain a rich, multi-dimensional understanding of the educational landscape. This understanding has been instrumental in shaping our Foundations page, ensuring that it is not just theoretically sound but deeply rooted in the real-world experiences and aspirations of those involved in the educational journey. Our ongoing aim is to continually evolve and adapt our approach to remain at the forefront of educational excellence and relevance.

NORTH LAWDALE READS INITIATIVE

In our final year supporting the North Lawndale Reads Initiative, CLI has exceeded all expectations, showcasing remarkable progress and achievements. The data speaks volumes, highlighting the undeniable positive impact of our interventions and instructional strategies on children's reading growth and performance. This resounding success firmly affirms the effectiveness of our implemented approaches.

A standout achievement is the substantial overall growth in children's reading levels. Among consistently present students at both Summer and Kellman, the average increase surpassed an impressive 4 reading levels, surpassing our initial goals.

Moreover, the data emphatically underscores our success in meeting grade-level expectations. The notable rise in the percentage of children scoring within their grade band at the end of the year, compared to the beginning, is a testament to the efficacy of our interventions and instructional support. This positive shift is evident across all subgroups, demonstrating our ability to not only meet but exceed grade-level expectations.

CLI's 4-day model for supplemental literacy instruction, known for its rigor, has made a discernible positive impact. The substantial growth observed in children this year reinforces the effectiveness of CLI's culturally-sustaining approach to supplemental literacy instruction. Specifically, Kellman saw an impressive 53% of second-grade children and 47% of third-grade children meeting or surpassing grade-level expectations. In contrast, Summer had 14% of second-grade children achieving this milestone. These figures underscore the effectiveness of our interventions and instructional support in propelling children toward grade-level success.

In Their Own Words

This is what a third grader had to say about their reading growth this year:

My scores went up in reading, and I can read longer books now. I've been working hard and never give up. Spelling has gotten better because you taught me how to break words apart and sound words out. I never knew how to spell long words. Now I can. I got the most improved reading award in my class this year and that made me proud of my progress in reading and writing. I feel more comfortable reading and writing in class because teachers can help me a lot more than parents.

My mom is always at work, so nobody can help me. I learned how to make a movie in my head when I am reading longer books and that way, I can remember what I read. I also tap words out that I don't know when I read or write. I want to be an all "A" child next year. I need to keep working on my reading and writing and come to school every day.

SUPPORTING EARLY CHILDHOOD IN MASSACHUSETTS

We have many goals for the impact of our early childhood work in Massachusetts. We want to equip directors with the skills of a coach so they can lead and develop their staff. We want to improve data systems at centers to support program quality. We directly support educators so they develop the skills to run affirming, engaging, and inspiring days for children. A big part of these goals is implementing a meaningful, connected curriculum.

When we talk about curriculum in early childhood, we always run into the question of what to do around seasons and holidays. These are the hallmarks of early childhood curriculum as it has been implemented for generations. Some families look forward to sending their children in costume on Halloween, receiving handmade Christmas gifts, and preparing valentines to be sent to school.

Challenging seasons and holidays can challenge the very core of many leaders' and educators' reasons for entering early childhood careers in the first place. Even so, as an anti-racist organization, the questions remain. How do curricular and community activities based on seasons and holidays include, affirm, and celebrate all families? Who gets left out?

While all centers grapple with these questions as they navigate curriculum leadership in holiday months, one center has transformed its thinking around inclusionary and culturally affirming curriculum. With the support of the CLI coaching team, the leaders honed their vision for curriculum, deciding that "it is not in the best interest of ALL of our students to include religious celebrations in our daily curriculum." This decision was not taken lightly. Over many staff meetings, surveys, and months of planning, the leaders worked to hear and align with their staff on the decision. They spoke with families and brainstormed other ways to gather, including outside visitors, and still create open spaces for all children to share about special traditions happening for them throughout the year.

This past Halloween was the first holiday where the center had to navigate its new curriculum decisions. Change management is complicated and imperfect. The team at the center communicated their vision, spent hours thinking about and responding to families' questions and concerns, and held open office hours to discuss the shift. The thing they kept returning to in discussion after discussion was the question: Who are we and what do we value?

This is the power of transformational coaching. It is not the role of CLI to impose thinking or facilitate one behavior change. Our support helps clients dive deep and really consider who they want to be and the kind of school they want to lead. From this, a clear vision and set of values helps drive the rest of the difficult decisions coming next. If we clearly see our values around anti-racist, inclusive, and affirming experiences for children, then we equip educators and leaders to take the actions that live those values again and again.

BUILDING BRIDGES: FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS FOR EARLY LEARNERS

Nicole Uuegbu
Partnership & Implementation Manager

No one can deny the impact that COVID has had on our society. One of the most salient areas of impact is the literacy development of young learners. As COVID necessitated an emergency shift to distance learning, educators across the country embarked on a steep learning curve with new instructional technologies and methodologies overnight. Simultaneously, social inequalities increased barriers to effective instruction—such as access to internet or technology devices for many Black and Brown students during this time.

As a response to the continued impact of the pandemic, in the fall of 2022, literacy coaches in Portfolio 1 began developing coaching plans with teachers and school leaders to address foundational skills knowledge with the earliest learners. Teachers and leaders alike expressed concern over how to meet the diverse needs of early literacy development in large and small group settings. Assessments and observations demonstrated foundational skills needs, especially for those whose first school experiences coincided with the COVID-19 pandemic.

At one partner school, Morrison Elementary, teachers received one-on-one and small group coaching around curricula new to the school to specifically address students' phonological awareness and phonics development. Under the facilitation of the CLI literacy coach, Morrison teachers also collaborated in weekly Professional Learning Committee (PLC) meetings to develop a new framework for foundational skills-focused small group instruction, using materials designed to bridge the phonics and shared reading curricula in the school.

The impact of the CLI-Morrison collaboration to redress foundational skills had a tremendous impact on students, nearly tripling the number of second-grade students scoring "At or Above Grade-Level" on the foundational skills benchmark tests. One teacher marveled, "Coaching helped me to use data to drive instruction by analyzing my students' performances, which guided my instruction on who needed more support, reinforcement, or who would benefit from having enrichment lessons."

"It gave me true feedback on how many of my students were understanding the lesson." Another teacher exclaimed, "[CLI coaching] helped us create a smart structure for small group instruction with predictable routines. [It] made planning easy and learning automatic!"

At another partner school, Frederick Douglass Mastery Charter School, the CLI literacy coach supported the K-2 team as they shifted small-group instruction to include a targeted opportunity to practice systematic phonics with apprentice teachers and address areas of phonological awareness development with the classroom lead teacher.

In one kindergarten classroom receiving coaching, the teachers saw a 25% increase in the number of children meeting or exceeding grade-level assessments in foundational skills. One teacher reflected on her coaching experience, "Coaching sessions were telling me everything I needed to know as a new teacher. Everything is for immediate impact! I would see it work in a model and then immediately try it." Another teacher expressed, "Figuring out how to teach different levels of kids and planning for them using data was very helpful."

LIFELONG LOVE OF LITERACY: BRYCE SIMMONS

As we celebrate our 35th anniversary, it presents us with the opportunity to take a look back at the impact that Children's Literacy Initiative has had on the lives of teachers and children, and to follow up with the friends we have made along the way.

In 1999, "Room 107, A Special Place" was filmed at Kearny School in Philadelphia. In that video we filmed our very first model classroom teacher, Ellen Ginsberg, and spoke with her about how working with CLI has changed the lives of her and her students.

In 2009 we caught up with one of the students from that classroom, Bryce Simmons, to see what he remembered about his kindergarten experience. And now, in 2023, we brought Bryce back to talk about life, being a dad, and what role his early learnings have had on his life.

Only this time we brought a surprise...

For children, learning to read has meaning far beyond the simple building of skills. Reading is an act of identity building and affirmation, intellectualism, a way to understand and question the world around them, and most importantly, joy.

EMPOWERING THROUGH LITERATURE

Read4Change's Impact on Childhood Literacy in Philadelphia

In the heart of Philadelphia, a group of seniors from MaST Community Charter School has embarked on a mission to bridge the opportunity gap and promote early childhood literacy through their non-profit organization, Read4Change. Established by Judith, Sana, and Siobhan, this student-run initiative has its roots in a shared passion for literature and a commitment to addressing the disparities in educational opportunities.

Read4Change is dedicated to advancing literacy in the Philadelphia community by generating funds for literacy organizations in any creative and engaging fashion possible to aid the community in obtaining books and other fundamental resources for children in need and ultimately combat the exorbitant illiteracy rates in the city of Philadelphia.

Judith, a volunteer at her local library, where she reads stories to young children, observed the stark contrast in resources available to different children in Philadelphia. Her inspiration stemmed from witnessing first-hand the impact of economic disparities in educational opportunities.

Sana is the daughter of Iraqi refugee parents. They fled their homeland in the late 90's due to persecution for their religious minority identity and their rebellion against the oppressive regime. Sana sought to use literature as a medium to inspire minorities and challenge societal norms, showing that literature cannot be censored and that it should not merely be limited in access to those who have the material means to buy it. Sana believes that every story and piece of literature deserves to be shared and experienced by everyone. It should not be a luxury or a privilege. It is a universal human right.

This experience not only motivated Sana to collaborate with her friend Menah on an in-the-works project centered on the teachings of suppressed Middle Eastern narratives but also propelled her to join forces with Judith and Siobhan in establishing Read4Change.

Judith

Sana

Siobhan

Siobhan's inspiration connects to her desire for children to be able to have the experience of developing a passion for narratives and storylines, as well as expanding their education in a fun and engaging way. She loves to read because it allows her to use her imagination and she finds relaxation within the hobby. Siobhan wholeheartedly believes children would be able to relate to her love of reading if provided greater access to literacy. When children have access to books that align with their interests, it allows them to build a positive sentiment for literature, inspiring them to pursue their dreams and aspirations.

Together, they hope to bridge partnerships and create further alliances with organizations such as Reading Recycled, the National Book Foundation, and the Braille Institute, to increase awareness. In addition, Read4Change intends to get its gradually growing teenage/young adult audience on both their Instagram and within their school's student body to participate in their projects to best maximize impact and contribute to awareness of the global illiteracy epidemic.

Read4Change's impactful initiatives include the Read4Change Fundraiser, a project encouraging high school students to collectively read 100 books in four months. The initiative took place this fall and was conducted through an Instagram page, garnering significant success, engaging over 45 students. They are currently working with multiple Philadelphia high schools to organize a book donation project coming soon!

Launching a non-profit as high school students presented challenges, especially in gaining support and partnerships. Rejections and unanswered messages were common, but through perseverance, Read4Change connected with the Children's Literacy Initiative and its vision of literacy to liberation.

Although Read4Change is in its early stages, the organization has already seen success through its interactive fundraiser. Collaborating with the Children's Literacy Initiative, raised $1000, which is the equivalent to an estimated 60-66 high-quality, identity-affirming books for children in classrooms to check out and read at home. With potential campaigns and collaborations on the horizon, Read4Change aims to amplify its impact on childhood literacy rates.

Upon graduating from high school, the founders have diverse career aspirations. Judith envisions becoming a college professor and spreading the joy of learning to the next generation. Sana is working toward her dream to be a traveling physician that specifically treats refugees in asylum camps, and Siobhan plans to pursue a career in graphic design. Despite their individual paths, they remain united in their commitment to continue Read4Change and fight illiteracy in Philadelphia.

Read4Change stands as a testament to the transformative power of literature and the determination of young minds to make a difference in their community. Through their passion, initiative, and collaborations, these students are paving the way for a future where every child can unlock their full potential through the joy of reading.

Dov and Jeanne Haselkorn

Dov and Jeanne Haselkorn met in college studying finance and upon graduation both pursued careers in their field of study. Yet, there was another interest that they also shared—that of literacy and a love of reading.

Once married, Dov and Jeanne decided they wanted to contribute to meaningful nonprofits and specifically sought out organizations and causes that were important to them. In 2010, they discovered CLI and were drawn to the organization's work in Philadelphia and nationally to ensure that children in underserved communities receive the high-quality instruction and books needed to prepare them to read on grade level.

"We did our due diligence on the charity ranking websites and one of the few we chose was Children's Literacy Initiative."

Dov and Jeanne have since started their family and love to watch their own children, ages 3 to 14, in whom they have instilled their love for reading, devour books. The family has sustained their support for CLI, committed to having as many children as possible have access to the gift of reading.

"CLI has impressed us at every turn—from the growth into new markets and the quick move to coaching teachers on effective Zoom strategies when the pandemic started; to the shift toward explicitly addressing the literacy needs of Black and Latinx children in an effort to combat what is broken in our education system," Dov and Jeanne share as they reflected on what has inspired them to renew their support year after year.

"Over the past 13 years, all of CLI's leadership and personnel have been amazing, and we've no doubt that the current team will propel the mission forward to even higher heights."

Demonstrated Experience and Impact Data

Additional Impact and Important Metrics

CLI's work has been validated by prestigious independent organizations and has garnered national attention for its ability to raise student literacy scores while building schools' internal capacities for teacher professional development.

Partners strongly value our work. 80% of leaders surveyed agreed that CLI's support, coaching, and development supported them in improving their coaching practices.

CLI builds leaders' content knowledge and instructional leadership. 100% of leaders reported that their content knowledge in literacy instruction and instructional leadership had improved over the course of the year as a result of the support from CLI.

Leader capacity increases as a result of our partnership. 100% of leaders agreed that their knowledge of effective coaching and facilitating adult learning increased over the course of the school year as a result of working with CLI.

Children accelerated four reading levels over the course of a year as measured by Fountas and Pinnell Benchmark Assessments as a result of CLI's literacy programming.

The American Institutes for Research report on a randomized control trial evaluation of CLI's i3 Validation project found statistically significant results for our impact on teacher practice and student learning. Our approach and results are now part of the What Works Clearinghouse.

Independent Study Proves Children's Literacy Initiative's Methodology Provides Significant Results

Results from a three-year, randomized control-group study of CLI's i3 project in four cities by American Institutes for Research, showed that:

- Kindergarten and second grade students in CLI schools scored significantly higher on standardized early reading tests than students whose teachers were not exposed to CLI.
- CLI had a significant positive impact on the quality of teachers' literacy instruction in both kindergarten and first grade classrooms.

OMG Center for Collaborative Learning

A 2009 control-group study by OMG Center for Collaborative Learning, funded by the William Penn Foundation, showed that kindergartners and first graders in Philadelphia schools with CLI classrooms consistently outperformed peers on district literacy skill assessments.

University of Pennsylvania's Center for High-Impact Philanthropy re-affirmed CLI as an "exemplar agent" improving early literacy education and making a long-term impact year after year.

Schools served by CLI's i3 Validation project in Philadelphia and Chicago are still outperforming the control schools from that study on third grade standardized assessments.

Testimonials from Partners

CLI values feedback from our partners in order to ensure project goals are met with intended impact.

Throughout the year, we offer direct and indirect opportunities for district leaders, teachers, and members of school leadership teams to share critical feedback to support our continuous improvement.

We are proud to share some of the feedback that we believe speaks to our purpose. The quotations below are from school-based partners across the country.

CLI and I both have high expectations for our kids. We, also, strive to give our children a high quality literacy experience by providing them with great literary texts and activities that promote a love for reading. (Chicago, Teacher)

My [CLI] coach has taught me so much and opened my eyes to what an effective, engaged, and inclusive classroom looks like. [They have] impacted my career more than words can say. There were times that I thought teaching may not be for me but [they have] helped me to realize the love I have for this profession. I am forever grateful for [my coach]. [They're] a friend, a teacher, a listening ear, and a cheerleader. (Houston, Teacher)

I would say the CLI program in its entirety has contributed to my students' growth this year. I feel my students have grown amazingly this year and they are eager to learn because of CLI. The CLI's schedule breakdown keeps the students just as busy as the teacher. I feel that CLI is very effective for both students' and teachers' growth. CLI has helped me create an even better learning environment. A learning environment that has few management problems, the joy of learning, and the feeling that my classroom is a community. CLI has helped me become a stronger literacy teacher for all of my students.

My meetings with my CLI coach helped me prepare for differentiated instruction and how to introduce new concepts/build on them. (Broward, Teacher)

I learned and grew so much as a reading teacher. I have been teaching 20 years and did not think that I could grow as much as I did. I really feel that I am at my most effective right now because of CLI. (Broward, Teacher)

I loved every minute of the time with CLI. I feel it strengthened my knowledge base and bank of literacy methods and strategies. It definitely brought back the joy and love of teaching literacy. (Denver, Teacher)

CLI has had a positive impact on the overall culture within my building. Teachers are excited about implementing everything that they have learned from participating in the CLI program. The children are excited about reading the new books, they are also excited about learning new things and developing their reading, writing, and language skills. (Pre-K Director, Philadelphia)

"I implemented Guided Reading and Reading Workshop. I have seen a love for reading grow and students' vocabulary, writing, decoding, and comprehension improve greatly." (Willingboro, NJ)

"Ongoing CLI coaching in the area of guided reading was instrumental in moving my higher-level readers." (Newark, NJ)

"Fun lessons using Read Alouds. My CLI coach and I came up with several lessons geared towards particular topics (comprehension/phonics) that my students have shown growth with. We worked on a lot of reading workshop and reading strategies that we use on a daily basis." (Elizabeth, NJ)

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

It gives me immense pleasure to recommend Children's Literacy Initiative (CLI) for literacy-based professional learning services under the leadership of Dr. Diana Greene. Under her leadership as Superintendent of Duval County Public Schools, I was fortunate to have served as her Chief Academic Officer inspired to lead with intellectual curiosity and enthusiasm.

In 2018, Dr. Greene led DCPS to be an early adopter of the Science of Reading. By the end of the 2018-2019 school year, all school-based administrators completed the initial professional learning cycle in the Science of Reading. In the 2019-2020 school year, K-1 classroom teachers, instructional coaches, and reading interventionists engaged in the first wave of professional learning. Although stalled during the COVID-19 pandemic, this did not deter Dr. Greene. DCPS began full implementation of the Science of Reading in grades kindergarten and one in the 2021-2022 school year, one year ahead of the Department of Education's implementation cycle. In becoming an early adopter, instructional administrators and primary teachers served as mentors and teacher leaders as full district implementation took place in May 2022.

I am confident without reservation that CLI, under the direction of Diana Greene would be an excellent fit to implement literacy-based professional learning cycles and coaching support in the Science of Reading. As a tirelessly creative and passionate individual, you will be impressed by the services Children's Literacy Initiative provides, under her leadership.

Feel free to contact me at 904-348-5144 or renfrop@duvalschools.org if you have any questions or would like me to further elaborate on Dr. Greene's achievements during her tenure at Duval County Public Schools.

Sincerely,

Paula S. Renfro

ELIZABETH PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Every Child, Achieving Excellence

Olga Hugelmeyer

Superintendent of Schools

To Whom It May Concern:

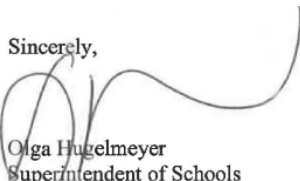

As the Superintendent of Schools for the Elizabeth Public Schools, I fully support Children's Literacy Initiative's (CLI) RFP response. We greatly value CLI's work and see the impact of CLI's program in our elementary schools, which sustains quality teaching and increases student achievement. We have found that CLI's intensive, job-embedded professional development services measurably help our teachers become more reflective practitioners and develop their literacy instructional skills. By making a human capital investment in our teachers, CLI is a highly effective force on behalf of our students.

We affirm that this innovative program offered by CLI will enhance the academic program of elementary schools by providing teachers with coaching, training and materials, as well as exposing teachers to exemplary literacy practices. As studies have shown, quality teacher training and sustained job-embedded coaching are invaluable resources for teacher development, retention and student achievement.

To Whom It May Concern:

I am delighted to write this letter of recommendation in support of Ginger Hayes and her work here at Frederick Douglass Mastery Charter School. As the Assistant Principal of Instruction in kindergarten through second grade classrooms, I had both the pleasure and privilege of working with Ginger for three years (2020-2023). During this time, our network was making a shift in aligning our pedagogical practices to the Science of Reading. Much of our daily collaboration involved Ginger's support and implementation of this shift as she coached teachers in systematic phonics and phonemic awareness instruction and small group literacy instruction rooted in the elements of Science of Reading. Every day, I witnessed her partnership with teacher and network leaders to promote equitable literacy practices. She also led professional development workshops and grade level meetings providing teachers the content knowledge needed to make the shift from a Balanced Literacy approach to literacy.

Ginger's expertise was especially critical when we returned to in-person learning after a year of strictly virtual learning experiences. Her deep knowledge of phonological awareness greatly benefitted our work in addressing the needs of our young learners impacted by challenges of virtual learning and access. Ginger successfully supported teachers to develop comprehensive plans for addressing gaps in phonological awareness development, working towards application of skills in connected texts. She was always mindful of using relative strengths to support children not only as an educational strategy but also to bolster confidence and motivation. Ginger understood individual differences and child development, coaching classroom teachers in appropriate strategies, implementing progress monitoring and having true compassion for children.

Ginger is Wilson Reading System certified and used that knowledge in coaching teachers and impacting students, but also encouraged two of our reading interventionists who are now working towards certification. Her passion for equity in literacy access and instruction has left a lasting impact on our staff.

Please feel free to contact me by phone (215.809.0613) if you have any questions or would like to speak in more detail.

Sincerely,

Ian Krouse

August 14, 2023

Good day,

I am writing in support of the Children's Literacy Initiative's RFP response for literacy professional development services. As the K-5 ELA Supervisor of Passaic Public Schools, I have had many opportunities to work closely with CLI over the past 8 years to improve early literacy outcomes for the students in Passaic, NJ.

Here in Passaic, CLI has helped to transform the culture around early literacy instruction so our General Education and Bilingual teachers feel supported and empowered in their efforts to get students reading at grade level. We know that strong teachers are the single most important factor in improving reading proficiency for kids; but we also know that without ongoing opportunities to practice new skills, it's next to impossible for teachers to incorporate new strategies into their instructional approach. By supplementing their training seminars with one-on-one coaching, CLI is giving teachers that extra and critical level of support to make lasting and impactful improvements to their practice.

CLI recently supported Passaic with our new curriculum rollout. This strategic support of implementation has contributed to a successful and consistent launch across the district. Our partnership has provided school-based leaders and teachers with the collaborative opportunities that are critical to fostering the broad adoption and ownership of the early literacy strategies and practices critical for effective instruction.

A partnership with CLI would be a solid investment in an organization that has repeatedly demonstrated an aptitude for scaling its work with high fidelity, while also being flexible in its approach to meet the unique needs of individual partner districts. I enthusiastically lend my voice of support to their application.

Please let me know if I can provide you with any additional information and support.

Sincerely,

Karen Feldkamp

Core Service Model

At CLI, we believe in empowering educational excellence through our Core Service Model. This model serves as a comprehensive framework that guides our work and ensures impactful partnerships with our stakeholders. By familiarizing stakeholders with our Core Service Model, we aim to provide a clear understanding of what they can expect when collaborating with CLI.

CLI's Core Service Model is a structured approach that encompasses four key phases: Discovery, Vision Setting and Strategic Planning, Support and Building Capacity, and Stepbacks. Each phase plays a critical role in driving meaningful progress and achieving our shared goals.

Phase	Purpose	Resources/Activities
 Discovery Phase	In this initial phase, we embark on a journey of understanding. We engage with our partners to learn about their unique school community, building relationships with teachers, school leadership, and students. Through activities such as learning walks, data dives, and focus groups, we gain valuable insights into classroom dynamics and identify strengths and areas of opportunity.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Leadership intake • Learning Walks • Student work & artifact analysis • Teacher and student focus groups • Data dives • Curriculum and material reviews
 Vision Setting and Strategic Planning Phase	Once we have a comprehensive understanding of the context, we collaboratively develop a shared vision. This phase involves analyzing collected data, conducting root cause analysis, and setting priorities for our work. Together, we create a theory of action, establish goals, and determine individual roles. By developing a strategic plan, we chart a clear path toward instructional growth and improved outcomes.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Data review • Root cause analysis • Determine priorities and focus of our work • Determine how each stakeholder will support the strategic plan • Determine metrics for success • Develop strategic plan

 Support and Capacity Building Phase	In this phase, we bring the strategic plan to life. Our team provides context-specific coaching and support to educators, ensuring they have the necessary resources and skills to implement the plan effectively. We offer targeted professional development opportunities aligned with the strategic goals, empowering teachers, coaches, and leadership teams to thrive.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Context-specific coaching and support • Development for teachers, coaches, and leadership teams aligned to strategic plan
 Stepback Phase	At strategic and planned intervals, we take a step back to reflect on our progress and make intentional adjustments. We analyze the growth achieved in relation to the initial goals, identifying areas where additional information or refinement may be needed. This reflective analysis informs strategic revisions and ensures that our partnership remains responsive and aligned with evolving needs.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Analyze growth from initial strategic plan goals • Determine where we need more information

Digital Framework For Teaching and Learning:

We have taken our Framework For Teaching and Learning that is rooted in research based best practices and built out an app to input our data

Why

- Inputting data into a digital framework allows us to create real time reports
- It aligns with our Organizational priorities

Who

- Our coaches collect data using a four-point rubric in the classrooms they support.

What

- Currently we are collecting data on Shared Text/Read Aloud and Foundational Skills-indicators are grouped into four categories: Books & Materials, Child Actions, Teacher Actions and Classroom Ecology
- We are working to build out small group instruction to be implemented in SY25

When

- Currently we collect data in the beginning and end of the year with progress monitoring opportunities as needed

How

- Coaches have received trainings on the digital framework and can input data and use reports to drive their coaching
- Market leaders can access reports to determine health of projects
- Programming team can use the digital framework to inform future professional development needs

Digital Tool/App

The screenshot shows the 'My ACTT' interface for Amy Ackerman at Adams Elementary. It displays fields for Diagnostic Date (9/15/2022), Diagnostic Type (Initial diagnostic), Bi/Multi (No), Grade Level (Pre-K), and Diagnostic Project (Belmont Charter Network FY23). Below these are tabs for Books, Child, Teacher, Classroom, and Print view. The main content area shows three indicators: A.1 Critical Literacy, A.2 Diversity and Inclusion, and A.3 Social Justice and Equity. Each indicator has a description and a four-point rubric (Developing, Emerging, Implementing, Sustaining) with a progress bar. A.1 is at the 'Developing' stage, A.2 is at the 'Emerging' stage, and A.3 is at the 'Implementing' stage. The bottom of the screen shows a version number v1.001 and navigation icons.
